8.44 Identify on a map the changing boundaries of the United States, including the Convention of 1818 and Adams-Onis Treaty

Settling Disputes:

By 1820, the United States had settled several border disputes. In the Convention of 1818, the United States and Great Britain had set the 49th parallel as the United States border with Canada in the West. In the Adams-Onis Treaty, signed in 1819, the United States and Spain more clearly defined the boundary of the Louisiana Purchase and Spain ceded Florida to the United States.
